Dear friends of choral singing!

After several years of experience with organizing of the Žilina Voce Magna International Festival and Competition of Choral Art in Slovakia, and especially the positive feedback from the guest choirs and their conductors, we decided to give an opportunity to participate to a larger number of choirs for the fourth time, again in the competition.

The fourth year of the international competition in Slovakia is for those who want to compete in the representative premises of the concert hall, they want to charm an international expert jury and win some of the financial prizes and for those who want to hear high quality choirs at the evening concerts. Together with the whole organizing team we are looking forward to meeting you in Žilina on this exceptional choral singing event.
